

NOTTI BIANCHE

WASHINGTON, DC

Located at the George Washington University Inn on New Hampshire Avenue, NW, Notti Bianche is a critically acclaimed restaurant that serves theater-goers, students and their families, and local residents of the Foggy Bottom neighborhood. The trattoria-style setting features Italian décor and a warm and cozy atmosphere.

Notti Bianche serves breakfast, lunch, and dinner and has received exceptional reviews for its food and ambiance. Noted as a “quiet gem” in one review, the restaurant accommodates 44 in its 2,400-square-foot dining, lounge, and bar areas. Notti Bianche draws its name from the ancient Roman festival for the performing arts known as the “White Knights.” It is located within walking distance to the Kennedy Center.
